

RADICAL OUTBURSTS ABROAD URGED

Protests in Sacco-Vanzetti Case Traced to Propaganda of Clothing Workers.

HELP FUND FOR DEFENCE

Forecast of Present Riotous
Scenes Made in Official Organ of Amalgamated.

Riotous demonstrations in Europe and South America protesting against the sentencing to death of Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti in Massachusetts are declared to be the direct result of months of persistent propaganda fostered by radical organizations in this city, particularly by the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, whose headquarters are on the seventh floor of 31 Union Square.

Sidney Hillman, president of the Amalgamated, is in Russia. Joseph Schlossberg, secretary, has been active both in this country and in Europe in behalf of "international solidarity of the workers." That efforts for "international solidarity" have been at least partially successful is indicated by mob scenes in Rome, Brest and Brazil.

From the beginning of the Sacco and Vanzetti case, radical leaders in this and other cities of the East have contended that the men were innocent and that the charges against them had been "framed" because of their activities among workers in and near Boston. In recent writings in radical publications Sacco and Vanzetti are held up as martyrs to the cause of the workers.

Says Schlossberg is Leader.

Archibald Stevenson, who was counsel for the Lusk committee last year, said yesterday that Schlossberg, secretary of the Amalgamated, had been perhaps the most active person in behalf of the two convicted men.

The interest of the Amalgamated in the case goes back to last spring. But the first official act, so far as is known, was on July 7, when the joint board of the Amalgamated voted $200 to the Sacco-Vanzetti defence fund. Notices were sent to all locals urging them to contribute.

Advocate, official organ of the Amalgamated, on Friday, August 25, printed an editorial appealing for funds to aid in the legal defence of Sacco and Vanzetti. The editorial said the men had been convicted on the flimsiest of circumstantial evidence and that workers everywhere should join in attempts to gain their freedom. The editorial pointed out that Secretary Hoover, before agreeing to help relieve famine in Russia had demanded the release of all Americans held in Russian prisons, and added that "it appears more likely that Russia will accede to that demand than that the Government of the United States will accede to the demands of its people for the release of its political and industrial prisoners."

Outbursts Forecast.

A forecast of the present outbursts in Europe was carried in a copy of Advance issued on September 3. It was set forth that workers of both Europe and America were aroused over the case. J. A. H. Hopkins, prominent in the Committee of Forty-eight, was quoted as saying that the two men were convicted on the poorest sort of evidence.

At the beginning of the Sacco-Vanzetti case there was an honest belief, held by many, that the men had not had enough legal help in their first trial. Later charges were made that the "capitalists" of Massachusetts were responsible for manufactured evidence. After that has come the hope of the Amalgamated that protests against the sentencing of the men will be a "gesture" far surpassing in magnitude any other Communist uprising in history.

One of the most active speakers for the Sacco-Vanzetti defence fund has been Elizabeth G. Flynn, labor agitator, formerly known as the "Queen of the I. W. W." Miss Flynn made scores of speeches in various parts of the East outlining the history of the case and pleading for funds. One of her speeches was delivered three months ago at the Rev. Percy Stickney Grant's public forum at the Church of the Ascension.

Mr. Stevenson said Sacco and Vanzetti belonged to the same group or anarchists as Andrea Salcedo, who killed himself by jumping from the Park Row Building, where the Department of Justice was holding him for radical activities. The name of Salcedo entered the Sacco-Vanzetti case in testimony of Walter Neiles of this city.

Radicals of this city picture Sacco and Vanzetti as being unlearned Italians who came to this country several years ago expecting in their idealism to find a land of freedom, only to find, as Sacco said at his trial, that "they worked harder for less money here than in Italy."

NEW JERSEY BAPTISTS PLAN WIDE CRUSADE

Resolutions Against Many
'Evils' to Be Passed.

ATLANTIC CITY, Oct. 22.—Missionaries on foot and on horseback, ministers on horseback and on foot, and filled with European experiences, churchmen and national figures, crusaders against liquor, prize fights and immoral movies, are supplementing their efforts for lasting peace with social work for world disarmament are ninety-nine members of the New Jersey Baptist convention, which opens Monday at the First Baptist Church here.

Before the convention ends Wednesday it is expected that a resolution couched in the most extreme terms will be adopted denouncing illicit liquor traffic, immoral movies and "brutalizing" prize fights. These matters will be called directly to the attention of State officials and lawmakers, and the convention will urge that the State should take action to suppress them.

From 200 to 300 delegates are expected to be present. The convention is representative of 1,000 Baptists in the State.

WILL MAKE YARLY GIFT TO THE CLASS

The will of Jacob Brenner, for many years Commissioner of the County of Kings, was filed yesterday in the office of Surrogate George A. Maguire in Brooklyn. In the petition presented with the will it was stated that the estate consisted of more than $100,000 in real and more than $5,000 in personal property.

The will was dated August 1921, and named three of Mr. Brenner's children, Mortimer, Arthur B. and Louis Brenner, as executors. Among the bequests was one of $1,000 to the Jewish Hospital, the interest to be used for the maintenance of the family. The Jewish Hospital is left $5,000 for the endowment of a bed in memory of Mr. Brenner's wife. The Commonwealth Beth El Synagogue received $500, the interest to be used to provide yearly gifts to members of the Beth El class. The residue of the estate is to be divided equally among Mr. Brenner's six children.

$1,328 FOR MRS. NEVILLE.

Mrs. Daniel J. Neville of 50 Brooklyn avenue, Jamaica, widow of the policeman who was killed by gangsters in "Hell's Kitchen," yesterday received a check for $1,328.29, the total sum contributed by organizations and individuals of Jamaica for Mrs. Neville and her three children.

The move to aid Mrs. Neville was begun several weeks ago, when a proposition of a dance palace in Jamaica gave an entertainment and promised the proceeds toward a fund for that purpose.

FRANCE GUARDS AMERICAN EMBASSY WITH 10,000 MEN

Content that to-morrow's parades, as well as the mass meeting in the St. Wagram, are intended only as the opening of a great Red recruiting campaign. For several months the Paris Red with funds evidently obtained from Moscow, have been carrying on nightly propaganda meetings in every arrondissement and have opened Communist halls in the congested districts frequented by laborers. An unusual spirit of solidarity has been attained, which, the leaders are careful enough, would eventually prove dangerous by the very fact of its collective force.

Even the communist newspapers edited by Marcel Cachin and other extremist leaders show a strange ignorance of the Sacco and Vanzetti case. One of them telephoned to The New York Herald for information whether the city during last night. The posters the men had been condemned or merely torn down to-day by the police and indicted. The most fiery platform arguments of the Communist party do not claim whether the men belong to the French, Italian or American Communist groups, but have used the incident to build up oratorical reputations for themselves, and, incidentally, to swell the circulation of the Communist evening newspaper to more than 500,000 daily.

Doubt still exists as to who threw the grenade last night, although one police agent insists that he saw a youth of 18 throw a missile and then disappear in the throng. A woman extremist who was wounded by the explosion made several damaging statements when questioned by the police. She is being held on a charge of complicity. A search of her home revealed hundreds of militant pamphlets, as well as incriminating letters, which have given the police valuable information regarding Communist liaisons between Italy, Germany and Austria.

BERNE, Oct. 22.—Posters appealing to Swiss workers to "save Sacco and Vanzetti" were pasted on walls throughout the city during last night. The posters the men had been condemned or merely torn down to-day by the police and indicted. The most fiery platform ar-

ARCHBISHOP MAKES CHANGES IN RECTORS

Two Priests, Recently Ordained, Receive Assignments to Outside Churches.

Archbishop Hayes has announced the following transfers and assignments among the priests of the archdiocese:

The Rev. Francis Szaubel, who was in charge of St. Joseph's Church, Poughkeepsie, has been appointed rector of the Church of St. Clements Mary, West Fortieth street, succeeding the Rev. Dr. Joseph Letachic. He will be succeeded at Poughkeepsie by the Rev. Theodore Jozwiak, who has been assisting the Rev. Ignatius J. Bialyga, administrator of the Church of St. Stanislaus, 103 Seventh street, Manhattan.

The Rev. John R. Carroll, assistant at the Church of the Sacred Heart, Highland Falls, has been transferred to St. Stephen's Church, East Twenty-ninth street, to assist the rector, the Rev. Francis P. J. Cummings; the Rev. James L. Harley, assistant to the Rev. Thomas R. McGrath, rector of the Church of St. Thomas the Apostle, West 118th street, has been assigned to assist the Very Rev. John J. Dunn, diocesan director of the Society for the Propagation of the Faith, and the Rev. Joseph W. Hughes, who since his ordination at St. Joseph's Dunwoody, in September, 1920, has been stationed at the Church of the Magdalene, Poughkeepsie, has been transferred to the Mission of the Immaculate Virgin, Mount Loretto, Staten Island. Father Hughes succeeds the Rev. Thomas S. McGrath, who has been temporarily assigned to St. Clement's parish, Mariners Harbor, S. I.

The Rev. Francis J. Gallagher, a newly ordained priest, has been assigned to fill the vacancy caused by Father Hughes' transfer at the Church of the Magdalene, Poughkeepsie. While another priest, recently ordained, the Rev. John J. Mahoney, has been assigned to St. Teresa's, Tarrytown.

KILLS ELFING DAUGHTER.

CANTON, Ill., Oct. 22.—Angered by the elopement of his daughter, Rose, 16, with Mike Mihelich, 37, after they had been denied a marriage license Tuesday in Peoria, Thomas Peltz, farmer, shot and killed the girl last night and then killed himself at his home near Bryant. Mihelich was arrested.

ALL SCHOOLS CALLED TO ARMAMENT PARLEY

Representatives to Meet in Chicago November 13.

Upon the assumption that the lads who are in school to-day will have to take the brunt of the next war in the event that one should be brought about by competition in armament, a convocation of representatives from schools all over the United States is to be called at Chicago, to discuss the question of disarmament.

It is to begin on November 13, and 100 colleges and universities and more than 1,500 secondary schools have been invited to send representatives. Calls for representation have been sent out by the boards of education, of Protestant churches affiliated with the Council of Church Boards of Education, the bureau of education of the Catholic hierarchy, and the educational section of the Conference of American Rabbis. Invitations to attend the conference urge attendance on the following grounds:

"To the youth of the land now in college and high school, the significance of President Harding's endeavor to bring about disarmament may be vastly greater than to any man of middle or old age. To these younger men it means a vast change in mechanical and financial conditions, or it may mean the sacrifice of life in military service by multitudes of young men now in school. No one in the country has a better right to speak than those who must carry the burdens and meet the troubles of the future."

FOR FOUNDLING HOSPITAL.

Al Jolson has offered his services for the benefit performance to be given at the Hippodrome Sunday evening, November 6, to raise funds for the New York Foundling Hospital, and has promised, with the consent of the Shuberts, to have his orchestra from his own theatre play. Kerekjarto, Hungarian violinist, has added his name to the programme.

The hospital has been in existence since 1869 and is supported by voluntary contributions and legacies and a per capita allowance from the city. During the past year it has received and cared for 2,100 homeless children. The Sisters of Charity are in charge.

FREED IN CHECK CASE.

On a statement that Joseph F. Williams of a Scranton (Pa.) banker, had made good a worthless check he had passed, Magistrate Jesse Silberman freed him yesterday in Jefferson Market court. He was arrested October 11.

FANCIFUL FASHIONS

To those who have not as yet become acquainted with all of our four floors we wish to extend a personal invitation to inspect our new Louis XVI. Salon, shoe shop, Paris and American millinery Salon and fur shop, wherein are displayed the latest creations in original Paris models, adaptations and some ingenious originations of our own.

Fascinating American Evening Gown

Enthusiasm will positively be displayed at first sight of this exquisite evening gown of Silk Chiffon Velvet. Created with a basque effect bodice and with an underskirt of silk georgette that has three rows of flouncing edged with contrasting colored lace. The uneven hemline permits this dainty piece of work to display itself. Large petalled flowers are lined with silver cloth and form rosettes which have jet spiders as centers. A string of rosettes also decorates the neck.

Genuine Beaver or Squirrel Trimmed Coats for Wintry Days

Decidedly different is this coat of Orlanda—a supple fabric of diagonal weave that is particularly appropriate for making into these luxurious coats. The deep collar and the wide cuffs of genuine Beaver fur add an enticing appeal. Ripples descend from underneath the fur collar, as shirring has been hidden there. The pockets, too, are slightly shirred, striking a new note. Beautifully silk lined and interlined.

Whether one fancies a coat that has a bloused back or straightline effect, this coat of Wondora—a new fabric of unusual richness—is adaptable to both styles. The wide Jenny sleeves are protected by silk undersleeves that are cuffed with Squirrel fur. The collar, too, has a wide border of genuine Squirrel and can be worn either open or snugly about the neck. Richly silk lined and warmly interlined.

The Truth About Style

What a peculiar little wild this would be if our women would go about and be satisfied with clothes that are all alike in design and never change their style! How monotonous and how uninteresting it would be to see the same fabrics and the same colors year in and year out! Our women would be without animation, without charm and without that great feminine trait—the desire to please.

It is often that we hear people say that that dress, coat, suit, hat or whatever garment it may be, is becoming or unbecoming to the wearer. These words, although hastily spoken, are governing factors whereby women learn their likes and dislikes and clothe themselves accordingly.

And all this affects our lives in a more important phase than most of us think. Style, as a result of ever changing its complexion, is a vital economic factor and has produced the means with which millions have found their livelihood.

Thus, Stewart & Co., a recognized leader in the presenting of the newest, authentic fashions, play their part in this fast-moving hemisphere with its many moods and modes.
